STEPHEN VINCENT BENET

STEPHEN VINCENT BENET (1898-1944) is equally celebrated as a short-story writer and as a poet. "The Devil and Daniel Webster" ranks among the all-time favorite American short stories (see page 74). His great poem of the Civil War, John Brown's Body, quickly became a best seller, won a Pulitzer prize, and gave thousands of new readers every year. After the failure of the historical novel, this long poem weaves many strands into a dramatic narrative of the great struggle: memorable portraits of Northern and Southern leaders, vivid accounts of battles, fascinating stories of individuals on both sides. At the time of his death Benet had nearly completed a similar poetic narrative of early settlement in America, Western Star, which won him a posthumous Pulitzer prize. In his last years he wrote radio plays on patriotic themes to rally support for America's cause in World War II.

In poetry as in fiction, Stephen Vincent Benet drew his richest images from America's past. An able craftsman, he varied his rhythms and poems to fit his subjects. In "The Mountain Whippoorwill" Benet tells us to

Ben in the mountains, never raised a pet,
 Don't want nothing as never got it yet.
 Ben in the mountains, lonesome-born,
 Raised towns, tagged the' cockleburrs and corn.
 Ben knew my puppe, noble never should,
 Think he was a fiddle made of mountain-laurel wood.
 Ben had a mammy to teach me pretty-please,
 Think she was a whippoorwill, a-sittin' thoo' the trees.
 Ben had a brother ter a whole pair of punts,
 But when I start to fiddle, why, yuh got to start to dance!
 Lays to my fiddle - Kingdom Come - Kingdom Come!
 Run the jug a-chunkin' Jug o' run, Jug o' run!
 Run that mountain whippoorwill be lonesome in the air,
 As I'll tell yuh how I traveled to the Essex County Fair.
 Essex County has a mighty pretty fair,
 All the smart fiddlers from the South come there.
 Shows how as they come up the bow
 For the First Prize Contest in the Georgia Fiddlers' Show.
 Old Don Whirling, with his whiskers in his ears, Engin fiddler for nearly twenty years.

curious minds
the instrument of achievement

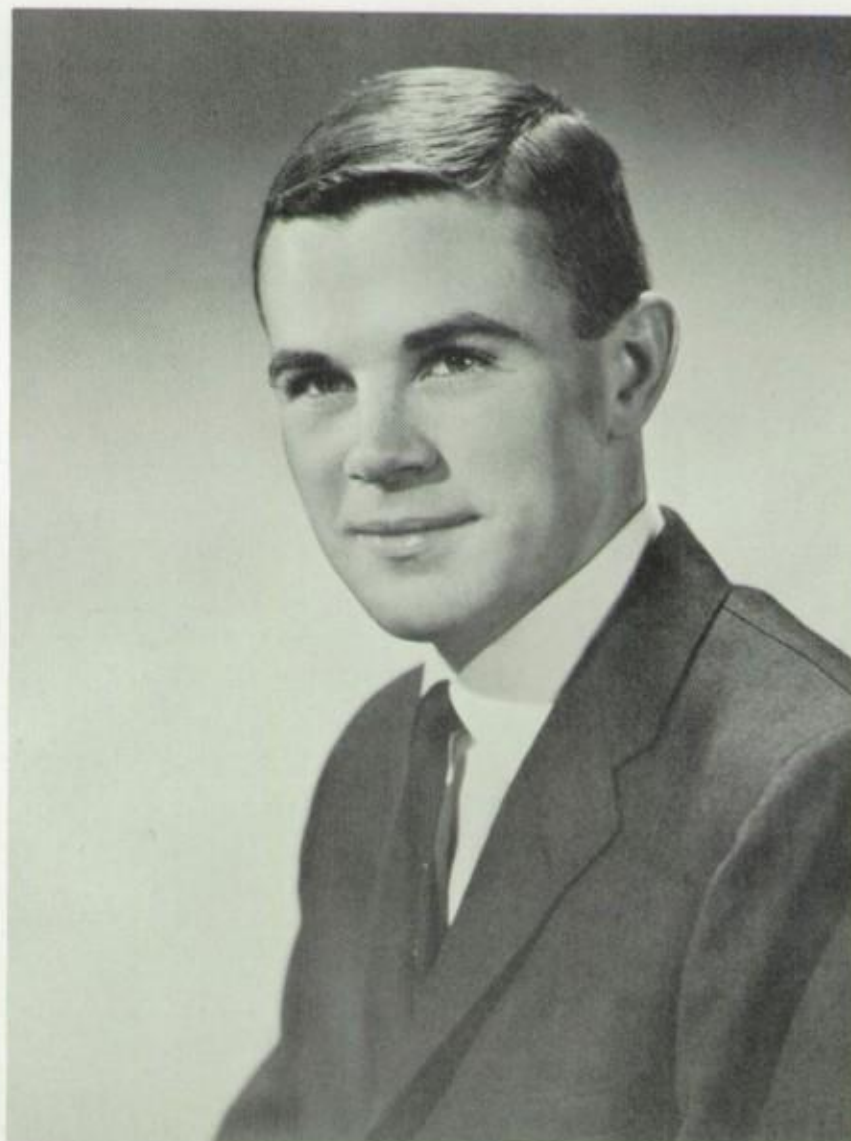

first lady

Judged by the faculty for her scholarship, citizenship, responsibility, character and maturity, Barbara Hultin was selected outstanding senior girl. Besides serving as president of Green Peppers and belonging to All-City Pep Club, Barbara maintained a 3.59 grade average. Her musical talents enabled her to appear in the All-School Show and to sing in Concert Choir and in All-City Choir. Barbara's other activities included Junior Escort, Honor Club, Political Science, Pre-Med, Spanish Club and Tri-Hi-Y.

president

Participating in many school activities while ranking twentieth in the senior class with a 3.78 grade average, Richard Caldwell was named by the faculty as outstanding senior boy. A member of Honor Club in his junior and senior years, Rick was a Junior Escort and received a National Merit Letter of Commendation. He also participated actively in National Forensic League. As a junior he attended Boys' State and the Student Council Leadership Workshop. Besides his membership in Concert Band and City-Wide Orchestra, Rick lettered in gymnastics and was a Heritage photographer in his junior and senior years.

The leadership, responsibility, co-operation and service displayed by JoAnn Conrad during her three years at Washington formed the basis for her selection as outstanding student government member. In her sophomore and junior years, JoAnn worked on student council and was All-School Secretary as a senior. Besides attending two Student Council Leadership Workshops, JoAnn took part in a State Student Council Conference.

government

Because of his continual work for the student government at George Washington, Sidney Brooks has been recognized for his contributions to the school. Before his election as All-School Treasurer, he served as Sophomore Class Vice-President and was on Junior Student Council. Sidney also participated in two Student Council Leadership Workshops and a State Student Council Conference.

Sidney was selected by Mrs. McCathy, Student Council sponsor, for his leadership, responsibility, co-operation and service.

Chosen as George Washington's outstanding senior athlete, Tad Polumbus lettered in football, basketball, and golf in three years of high school. He served as captain of this year's basketball team and qualified for the ten-man state basketball squad. A member of all-city and all-metropolitan football teams, Tad was chosen best George Washington football player by the rest of the team. His accomplishments in golf included playing on the state championship team and in many other tournaments. Tad was selected on the basis of athletic letters, special awards, academic record and general attitude.

The many contributions of Jane House to Drama Club formed the basis for her selection as outstanding club member of the school. Her membership in Thespians, a national honorary group for high school theater students, enabled Jane to play the lead in this year's Thespian presentation, "The Heiress." In her junior year she was vice-president of Drama Club and Thespians, and in her senior year she was production manager for one of the three one-act plays presented by Patriot Players.

Jane was chosen by the faculty for her dependability, co-operation and leadership.

In recognition of his varied military skills, Cadet Colonel Fred Hammil was named by Colonel Zalesky as top senior of the National Defense Cadet Corps. A private when he became a cadet three years ago, Fred became colonel after serving twice as an Honor Cadet and as a battle commander. Fred was on the cadet Drill Team and was awarded a leadership ribbon in his senior year.

Liz Toral and Sally Silverstein play with the Silverstein's dog, Pogo.

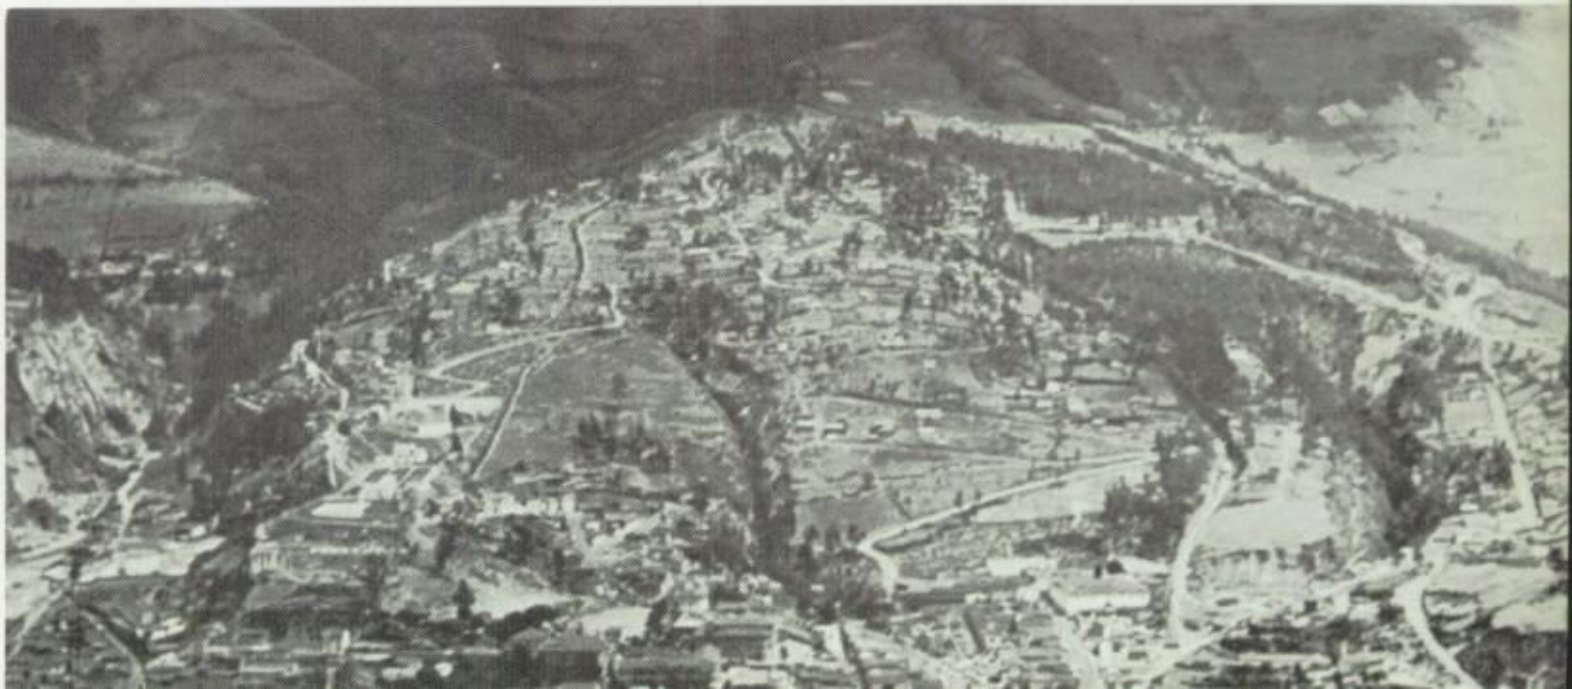

a.f.s. student

A constant smile and a friendly hello are characteristic of George Washington's exchange student, Liz Toral. Sponsored by the American Field Service, Liz came to Denver from Quito, Ecuador, where she attended the only co-educational school in her country. During Liz's two-semester stay with senior Sally Silverstein, she studied French, algebra, English and history.

As a climax to her stay in this country, Liz will travel with the Silversteins to New England, and then to Washington, D. C., where she will meet President Kennedy.

Framed by the mountains of Ecuador, Liz's home, Quito, is very similar to Denver.

Well-known around Washington for his many activities, Head Boy Bruce Heitler stood first in the senior class with a 4.00 grade average. The state winner of an essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Bruce traveled to Washington, D.C. in his junior year to compete in the national finals. An amateur photographer and banjo player, Bruce, a National Merit Finalist, also enjoys golf, swimming and squash.

Roger Rudolph concluded a top high school career by attaining a 4.00 grade average, placing him first in his graduating class. As president of the senior class, Roger was also an active participant in school affairs. He received nation-wide recognition by being named runner-up in the National Council of Teachers of English writing contest.

President of Honor Club, Sally Silverstein achieved a 3.98 grade average to rank third in the senior class. During her three years at Washington, she participated in the accelerated programs of French, English and science and took college courses in mathematics and American History. A contestant in many tennis tournaments outside of school, Sally was a member of the Junior Whightman Cup Team.

English-born Jane House ranked fourth in her graduating class by compiling a 3.97 grade average. Active in student government, she was Junior Class Treasurer, a member of Student Council and served in General Assembly. Jane is a talented actress and appeared in many Drama Club productions.

Talented Teresa Barmatz ended high school with an impressive 3.96 grade average to place fifth among fellow graduates. Tess received the distinction of being named a National Merit Finalist and participated in college programs of American history and mathematics. A musically inclined person, she was secretary of Music Club and a Madrigal Singer.

Kurt Beam, a National Merit Finalist, accumulated a 3.96 grade average to place fifth in the senior class. Taking college courses in mathematics and history, Kurt still found time to engage in many sports. His prime favorites during this past year were mountain climbing and skiing.

Pam Dawson compiled a 3.96 grade average to rank fifth in the senior class. As business manager of the Surveyor she attended an all-day journalism conference and a three-day conclave in Chicago. An enthusiastic seamstress, Pam is interested in designing and sewing clothes.

A 3.96 grade average places Janet Johnson fifth in the graduating class. Her scholastic ability enabled her to be one of the six Patriots to receive the honor of National Merit Finalist. Jan's favorite pastimes are collecting stamps and swimming.

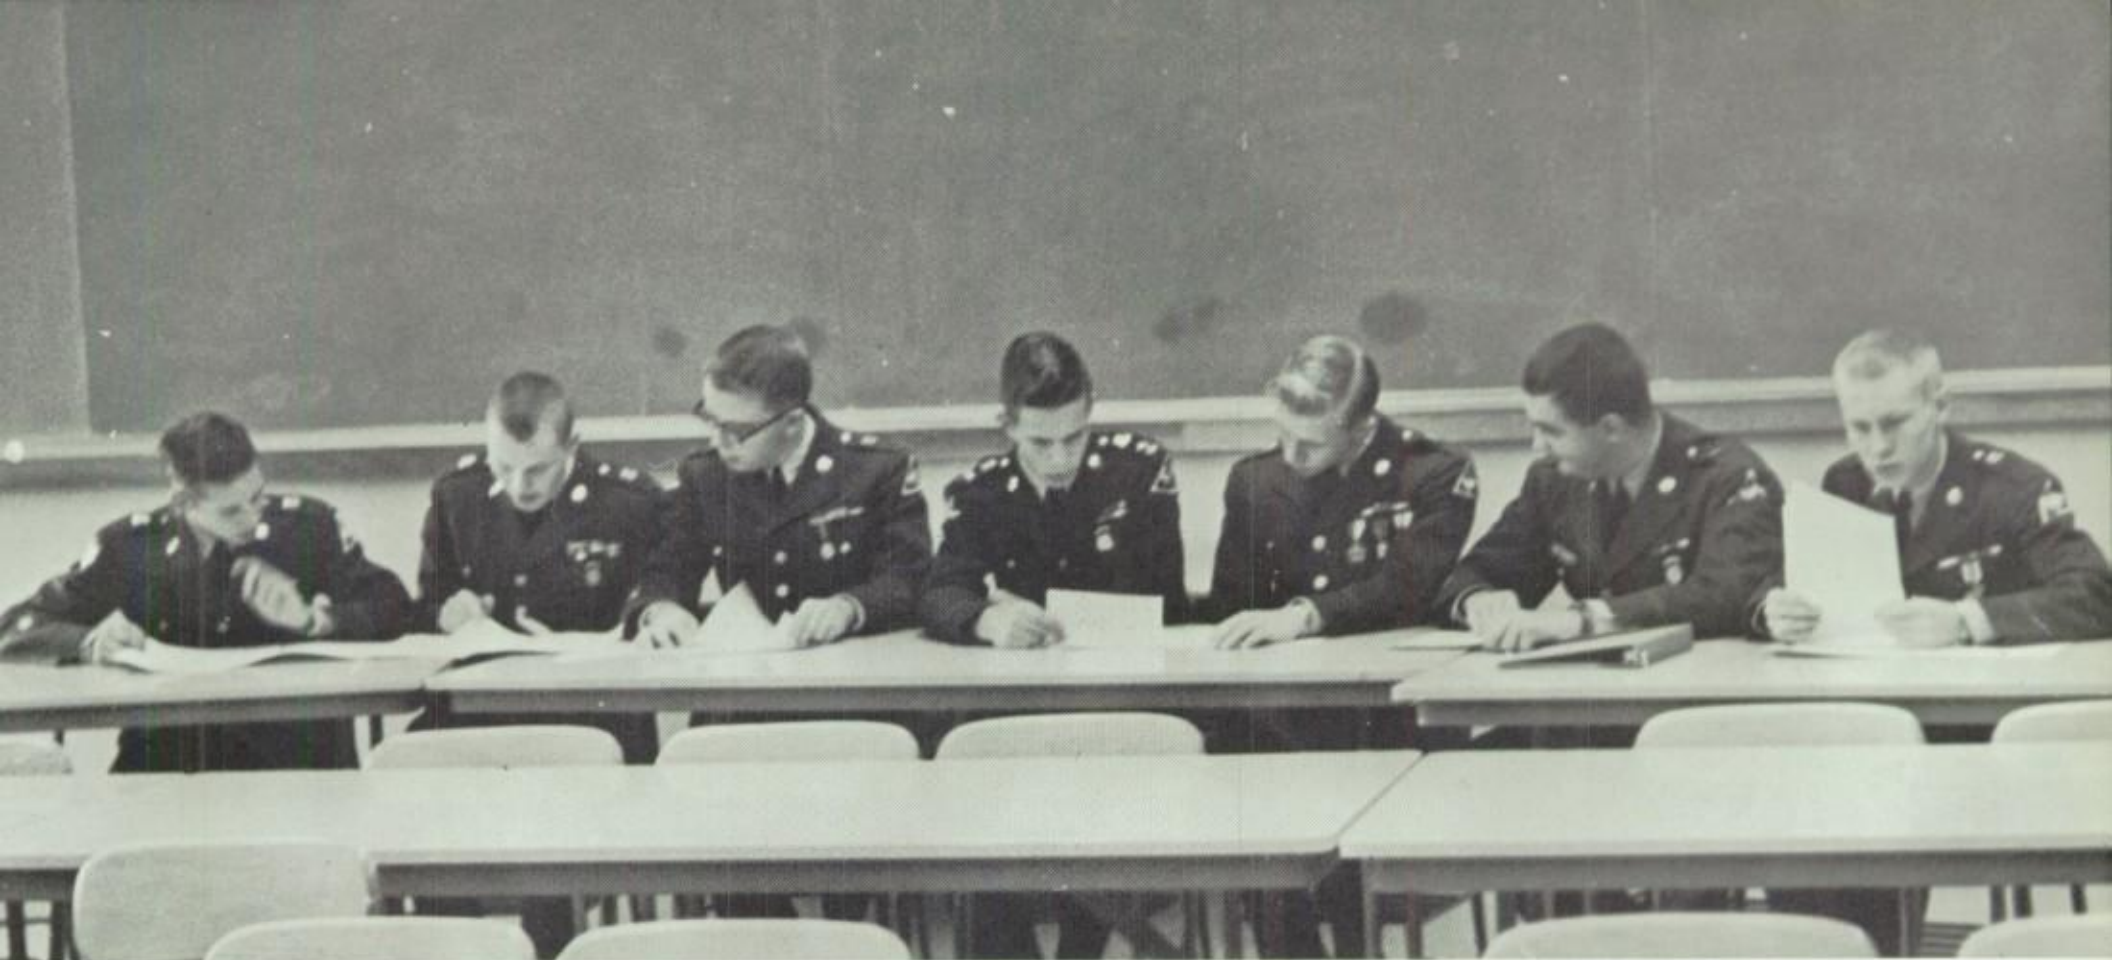

Bob Parsons and Jim Young raise the Colors before school.

Art Beare oversees other cadets as they learn to dismantle a machine gun.

The National Defense Cadet Corps of George Washington High School is established to develop patriotism, to inculcate habits of orderliness and precision, to instill discipline, to encourage a high sense of personal honor and deportment, and to promote the physical development of the cadet.

This program prepares the student for participation in advanced military training, either for further work in college or for an active part in the Army or Army Reserve.

honorary cadets

In addition to acting as official George Washington hostesses, Honorary Cadets serve as secretaries for the National Defense Cadet Corps and march in NDCC parades and drills.

Members are selected by the faculty on the basis of dependability, citizenship, and scholarship.

Carrying out her duties as Honorary Cadet, Joan Bower helps with filing in the NDCC office.

Names of the students attending GW are Lora Chuz, Carlos Merchare, Pedro Pereira, Sona Roca and Gale Serrano.

They are part of a group of 29 students from Guayaquil, Ecuador, who are participating in "Operation Amigo," an experiment in understanding sponsored by Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

These 29 students (17 boys and 12 girls), are dispersed among the eight Denver public high schools. They will live, work and play with the students of the various schools they are attending. They will be leaving Nov. 27, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Munsell, Spanish teacher at GW.

While at GW the students will be hosted by Spanish-speaking Patriots.

Originated in 1961, Operation Amigo's purpose is to make friends for the United States in Latin America to offset communistic efforts there.

Enos to Evaluate College Boards

College Entrance Examination Board Achievements will be graded by Mr. Dudley Enos, Head of the English Dept., at Princeton University, New Jersey.

Mr. Enos will also fly to a meeting of the National Advisory Board of Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, New York Publishers, in Miami.

While in Miami Nov. 23-26, Mr. Enos and other members of the advisory board will decide on new titles to be published and pick authors to edit books and author introductions.

This is Mr. Enos' second year on the board which meets twice a year.

Entrance examinations from across the country will be graded by hand by Mr. Enos and other readers Dec. 2-9. The tests will then be graded by a mechanical brain from the Educational Testing Bureau and recorded.

Five human readers will be on hand to check a five-or-more-point discrepancy between the previous human and machine grade.

The human readers are composed of approximately one fourth private school teachers, one fourth public school teachers and one half college professors. This is the fifth year that Mr. Enos has graded tests.

Approximately 105,000 tests were graded in March by about 200 people. This year, approximately 100 will grade tests.

Pep Club Included In Vet's Parade

Participants in the Veteran's Day Parade, Nov. 12, were the George Washington Green Peppers, the Honorary Cadets, the cheerleaders, the National Defense Cadet Corps and the band.

All Denver public high schools participated in some way. Rural schools also sent bands, pep clubs and majorettes. Certain Bethels of Jobs Daughters and Assemblies of Rainbow Girls also participated.

The parade started at 10:00 a.m., went down Sixteenth Street and up Fifteenth Street.

The cheerleaders preceded the Green Peppers with the Washington banner. The band followed lead by Mr. Roland Roberts.

"We, as a Pep Club, hope to make a tradition of marching in every Veterans Day Parade," said Judy Hugie, one of the Green Peppers' Drill Masters.

Veteran's Day, originally Armistice Day, was initiated in 1921 and is observed each year to honor those men and women who fought in World War I and World War II.

Girls Treat Boys to Backwards Dance

What, girls treat boys? Yes, it's going to happen Saturday, Nov. 17, at the George Washington Backwards Dance sponsored by the senior class.

Having the girls ask dates, provide rides, open doors, help the boys with their coats and treat them to a snack will be of special interest to Patriot boys, commented a senior class officer.

Instead of a queen, a king will be crowned. Candidates are Rick Albert, Bob Belt, Doug Dolph, Kent Hallam, Tom Mahony and Tad Polumbus, who were nominated by the Senior Class Nov. 7.

The Saints, a college band, will provide music in the gym from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Bids are being sold this week, Nov. 13-16, for $1.25.

To make the dance really "backwards," Roger Rudolph, Senior Class president suggested a hall dance, with music piped through the public address system. Mr. Sam Waldman, principal, rejected the idea as "too dangerous," due to glass doors, pillars and slippery hall floors, Roger explained.

"We're all looking forward to a TYPICAL backward dance," commented Roger.

(See editorial, page two.)

Thespians Stage "The Heiress"

"The Heiress," a serious drama based on Henry James' novel, Washington Square, will be produced Dec. 7, at 8:00 p.m. in the George Washington High School auditorium, according to Mrs. Frances Shay, Thesbian Society sponsor.

Jane House and Mike Morfit have been cast in the lead roles; other members of the cast include Harold Aarons, Joy Burnley, Stevie Cook, Susan Hess, Antonia Rupp and Cindy Voight. Try-outs for the parts were held in October.

The cast has been rehearsing for two weeks every morning at 7:00 a.m. and weekends away from the school.

Bob Roush is production manager.

Tickets will go on sale Nov. 28, for one dollar. There will be no reserved seats and tickets will be collected at the door.

Tri-Hi-Y, Model Teen Girls Add Happiness to Holidays

Needy families in the Denver area will benefit on Thanksgiving and Christmas this year because of the efforts of two George Washington girls' clubs.

Patriots in Tri-Hi-Y will bring enough food from home to feed five families Thanksgiving dinner, according to Miss Elizabeth Royce, sponsor.

The food will be placed in baskets and delivered to the homes by Tri-Hi-Y members on Nov. 20. Pam Melford is president of the group.

Model Teens will surprise three needy families on Christmas.

Each girl on a committee for one of the families will bring a sum of money with which to buy food for the families' Christmas dinner. The money will also cover small presents for each of the children and a possible Christmas tree and ornaments, according to Ginger Jack, president of Model Teens.

The clubs will give the baskets as their current semester service project. The families' names were obtained from the Denver Department of Welfare.

Pats Visit Chicago

Over half of the George Washington Surveyor staff is going "on vacation."

Pam Dawson, Jo Graber, Kay Leshner, Jeff Levine, Anne Mitchell, Greg Reid and Lynn Wolfson are going to attend the National Scholastic Press Association convention at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago. They will leave Nov. 21 and return Nov. 25.

Twyla George will leave Nov. 16 to visit the United Nations in New York and The White House in Washington, D.C. The trip is sponsored by the Mile-High Junior UNESCO. She will return at midnight, Nov. 25. The purpose of the trip is to provide an opportunity for young people to observe the UN and the United States government in action.

French Speaker Discusses Politics

French politics and songs were the topics of discussion at Le Cercle Francais, George Washington's French club, Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Madame Guiberteau, French teacher at Garland Country Day School, explained the political situation in France and the DeGaulle regime. She stated that France needs DeGaulle very much, and that if anything should happen to him, there would be a possibility of civil war. The United States, which now has 150,000 students in France, would stand to lose a key ally, she commented.

De Gaulle Discussed

DeGaulle, the President of France, who held a people's vote, threatened to resign if the French did not support him. The dispute, in which he obtained a 60% majority of the vote, was whether the president of France should be elected by a direct vote of the people or by the electoral college, as it stands now. DeGaulle believes a more efficient system is the direct vote.

In another referendum, deciding the fate of Algeria, DeGaulle won freedom for Algeria by an 87% majority. Many French fear the power of a referendum vote, club sponsor Mr. Ralph Boyer explained, because it was by that means that Napoleon Bonaparte rose to power.

Songs Played

Madame Guiberteau played tape recording of French popular songs such as "La Vie En Rose" and "C'est Si Bon." Mr. Boyer, who studied in France this summer, stated that French teenagers prefer American-style "rock-n-roll," have their own teenage singers, and listen to many American records in the original English.

In the near future, the club will visit the Schleier Art Gallery, on a tour to be conducted by Denver artist Angelo diBenedetto.

Leadership Workshop Attended; Speakers Entertain Members

"Trouble breeds endurance, endurance breeds character, and character leads to hope," was the message of a speech delivered by Dr. Carleton Babbs, guest speaker at "Antipodes," George Washington workshop, Nov. 7.

Brainstorming, committee meetings, members and magic were discussed by Mr. Earl Reum, "best Student Council man in the West," according to head boy Bruce Heitler.

How people react to the treatment they are given and various types of club members were acted out by participants. A pop bottle symphony, demonstrating the need for each individual in a group, was also performed. Mr. Reum then gave a demonstration of magic, proving that we don't really see what we think we see.

"A Message to Garcia," an essay explaining dependability and responsibility, was read by Bruce Heitler. After dinner Bruce led the participants in song.

Workshops for presidents, secretaries, publications workers and organization members were conducted later.

Both teachers and students engaged in card competition during the bi-monthly games sponsored by the Bridge Club. Members not only received instruction in contract bridge, but also learned the importance of concentration and sportsmanship.

Beginning Bridge players are given aid by Mr. Person Jeffries.

symposium

French impressionistic art, the United Nations, and social pressures were among the subjects discussed and criticized by Symposium club. Through these discussions, members broadened their knowledge of world problems.

Symposium members listen with interest as Alan Lubliner adds his comments.

Mr. Vaughn Arandahl presents his views on social pressures experienced by high school students.

Symposium: a collection of opinions on a certain topic.

Supporting a book on her head, Beth Tinsley practices a posture exercise.

Many needy families received presents through the Christmas project of the Model Teen Club.

model teens

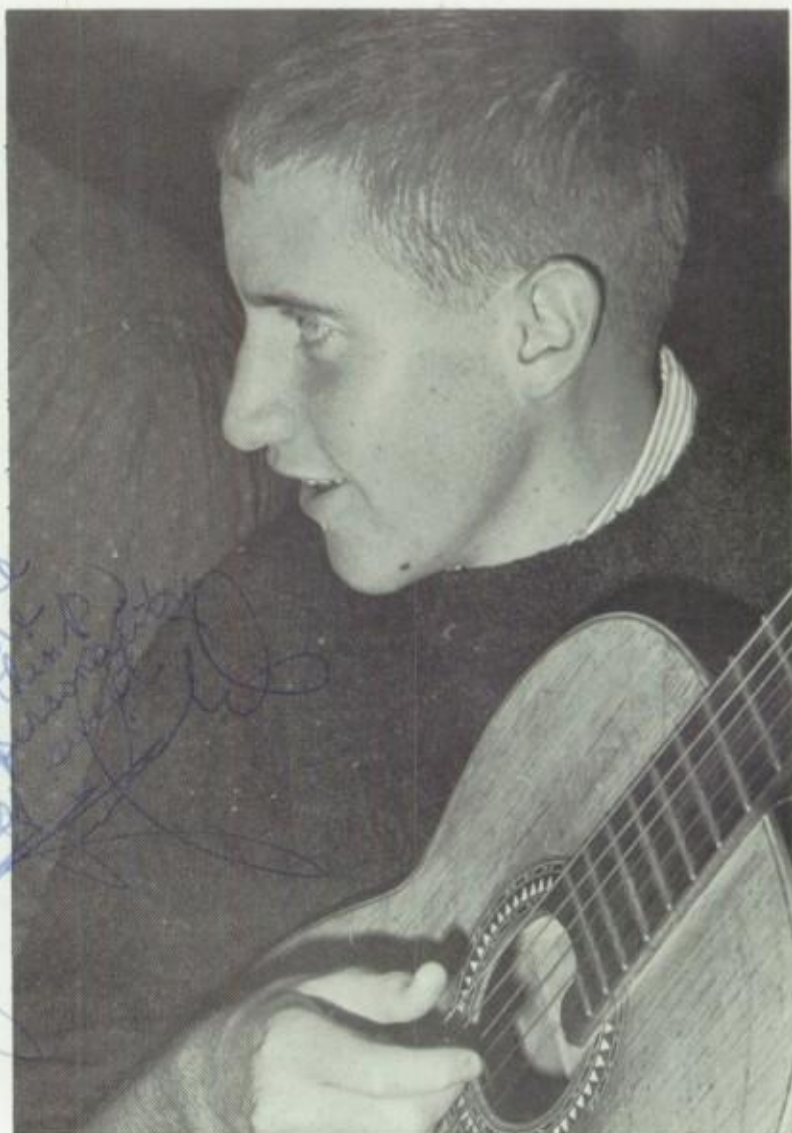

Professional speakers as well as a panel of male critics helped members of the Model Teens Club to achieve natural poise and grace. Through this advice the girls hoped to attain a knowledge of proper etiquette for young women.

Sam Chazen and Vicky Reed listen attentively as Wells Littlefield teaches a new song.

folksong

Guitar and banjo wielding members of the Folksong Club met to sing and exchange songs. Varying styles and techniques were studied in workshops with song clubs from other schools and in programs presented by professional folksingers.

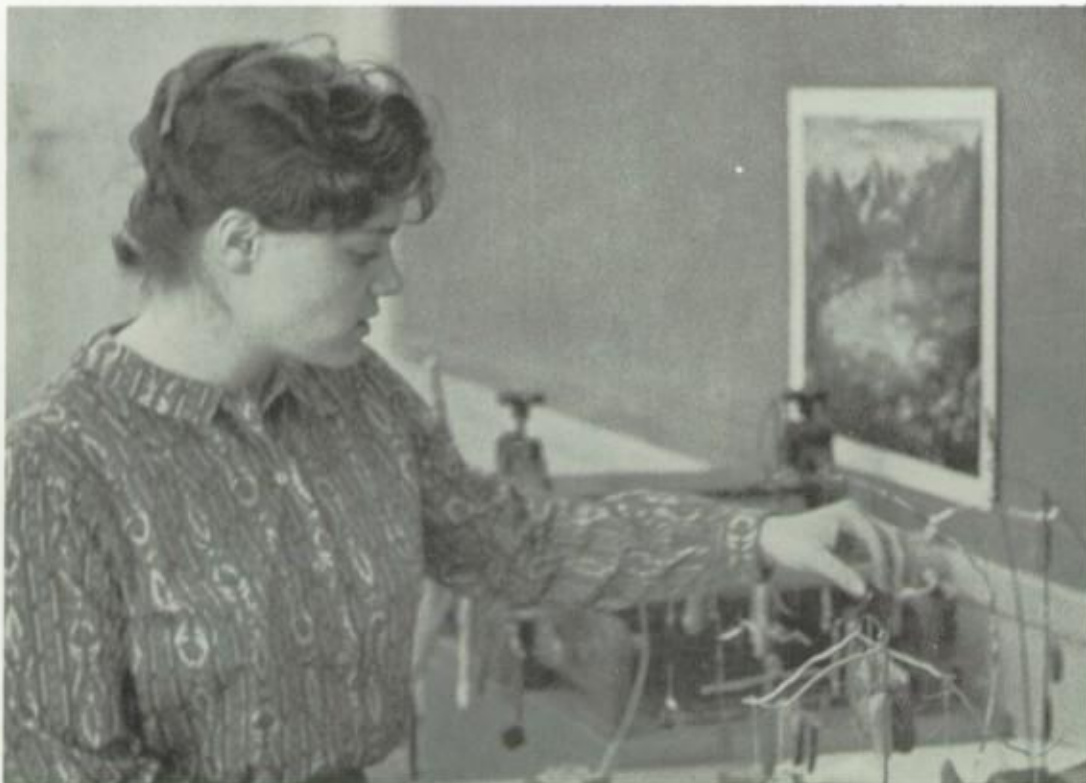

Art Club sponsors, Mrs. Edith Niblo and Mrs. Jean Hashman, analyze a painting with Merikay Hermanutz, a club member.

art

Members of the Art Club received practice in critical thinking by viewing several private art collections. They supplemented this training by discussions of their own works and the works of famous artists.

Displaying her work to the club, Andee Samelson awaits helpful suggestions.

Toni Owen investigates the delicate balance of a mobile.

key club

The sale of refreshments at basketball games and an assembly on aerospace gave Key Club an opportunity to serve the school. As community service projects the club brought several boys from Fort Logan Rehabilitation Center to a Varsity game and collected clothes for the Goodwill.

Frank Corbin and Bill Brown carry light bulbs to sell for the Key Club convention fund.

Career day speakers are greeted by Roger Greene and Jan Sumner.

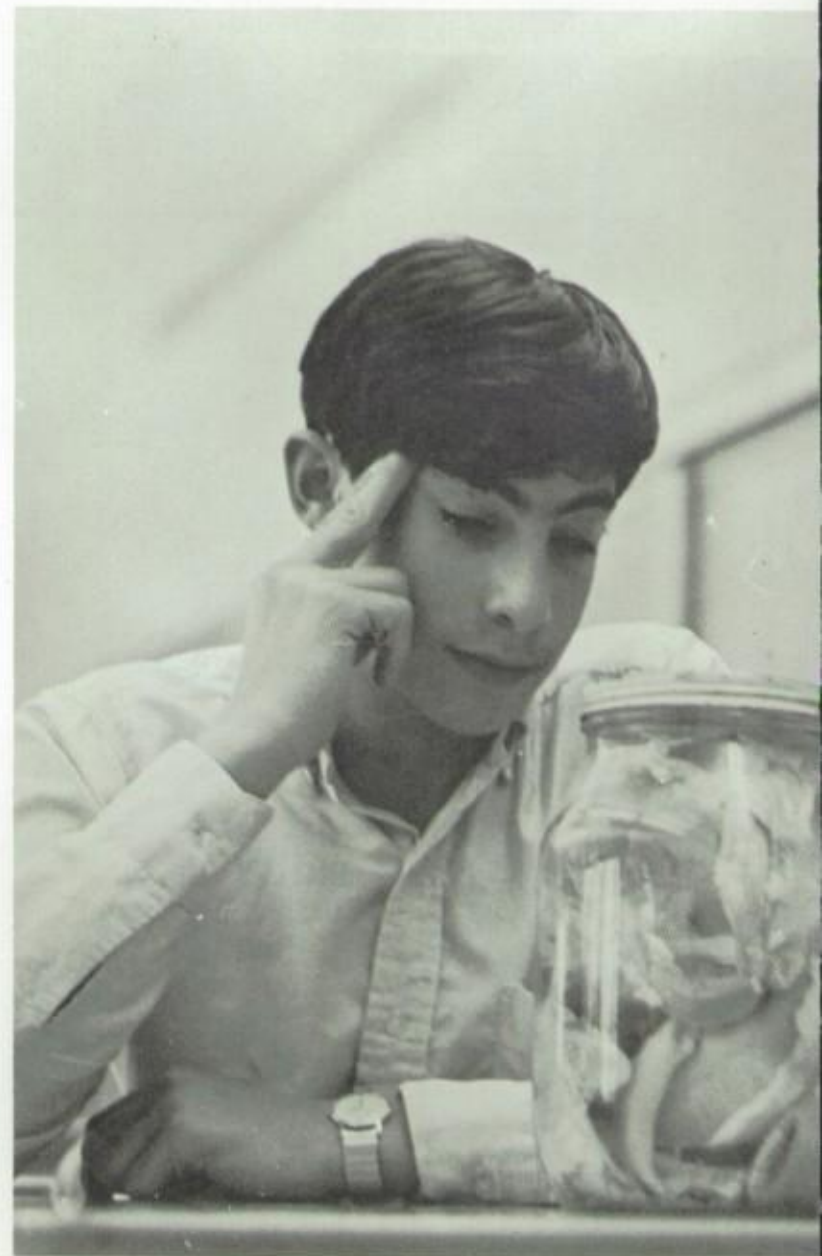

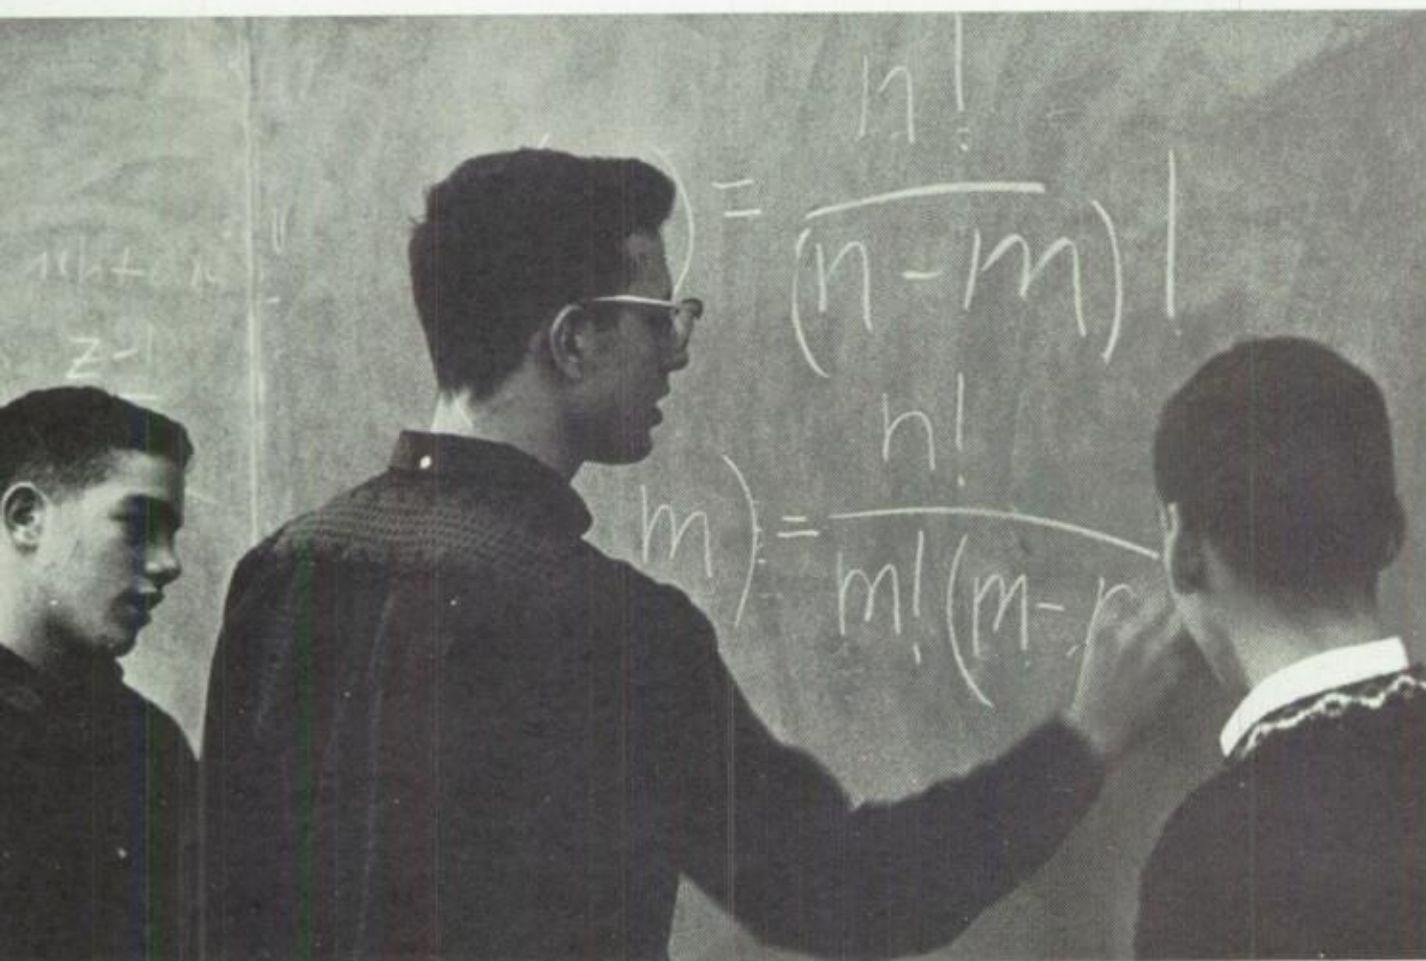

Gene Bloom focuses on an organism under the microscope.

pre-med

A diversified program of speakers developed interest among the members of Pre-Med club in various fields of medicine. In conjunction with these lectures, the club visited the University of Colorado Medical School and the Rocky Mountain Arsenal hospital.

Carole,
This past year we really have gotten to know each other. I hope that our friendship will continue with your ambition and sparkling personality. I know
you will go far.
Good luck in everything you do.

Members discuss the binomial theorem.

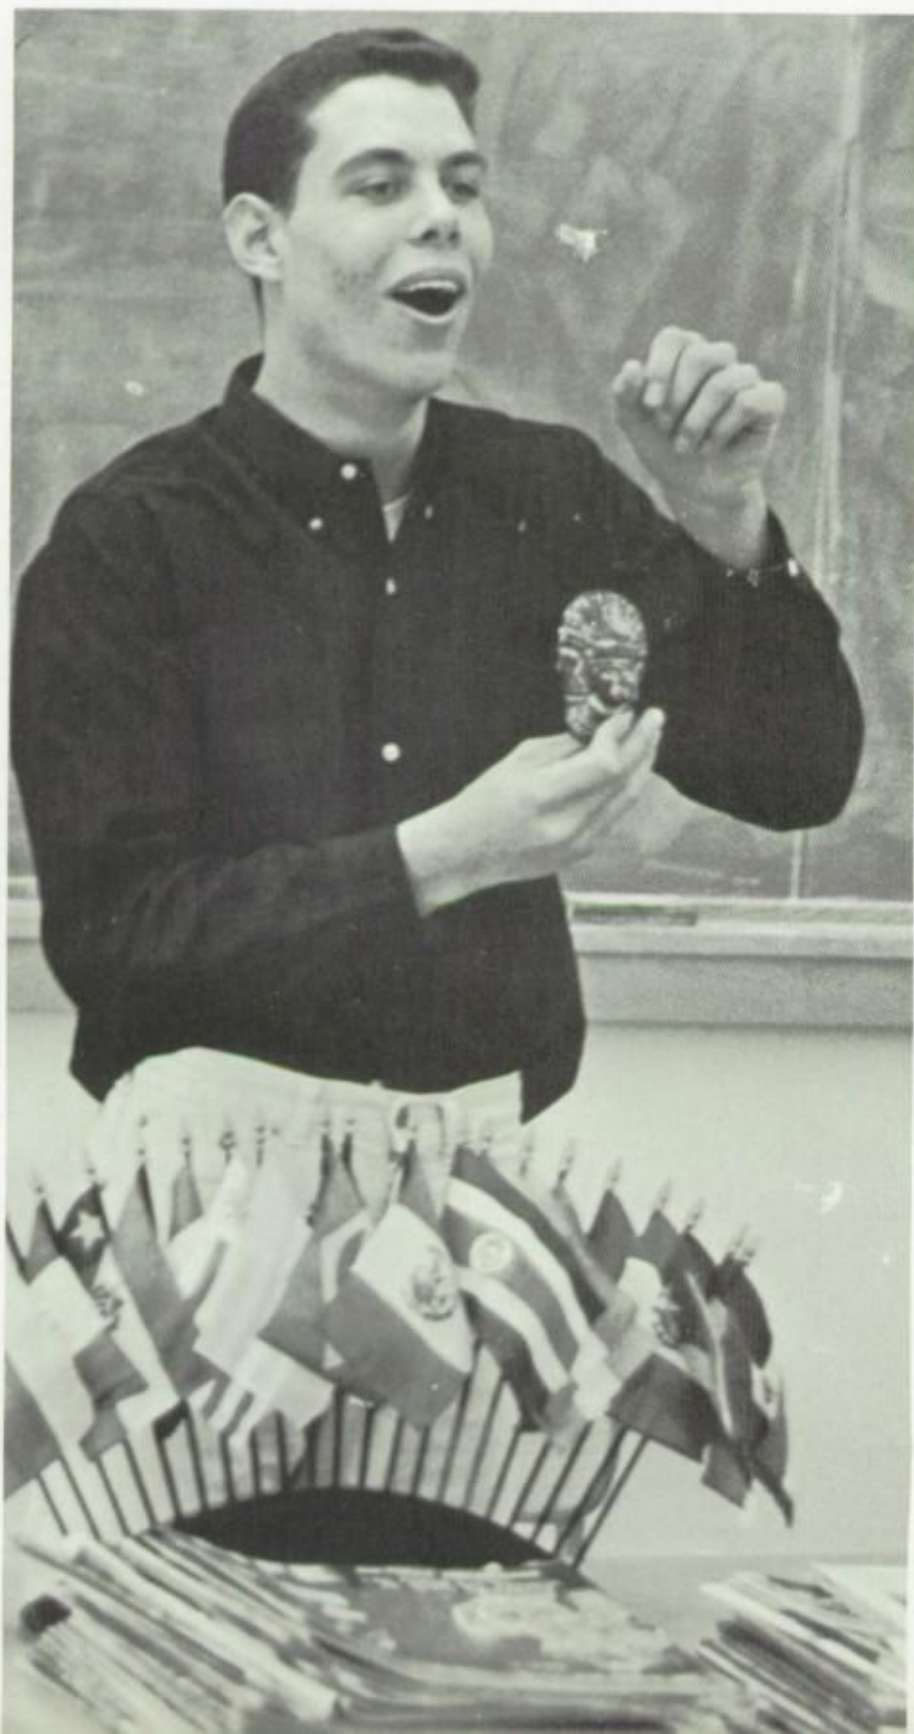

math

The Math Club held meetings to discuss problems presented by its members and to listen to lectures given by various teachers in the school. Both these functions were geared at increasing the mathematical ability of interested students.

Members learn a Spanish folksong.

spanish

In order to gain a better understanding of Spanish-speaking countries, all interested students were invited to attend functions of the Spanish Club. Working toward this goal, the club helped sponsor the "Amigos" and attended a Mexican dinner.

Eddie Gruben describes an Aztec Indian artifact.

The open membership of the High School Red Cross gave all students an opportunity to serve the community. Talent shows for disabled veterans and Santa Claus Shop management were two ways in which this was accomplished.

Residents of a nursing home are entertained at a club sponsored bingo party.

Members learn a folk dance to teach orphans.

Ambitious girls wash cars to earn money for the club.

tri-hi-y

The state-wide YMCA mock legislature, Youth and Government, climaxed Tri-Hi-Y's busy year. At this program, members met state lawmakers and introduced several bills which were sent to the Colorado State Legislature for consideration.

Judy Goff and Pam Halford leave the school with food boxes for needy families.

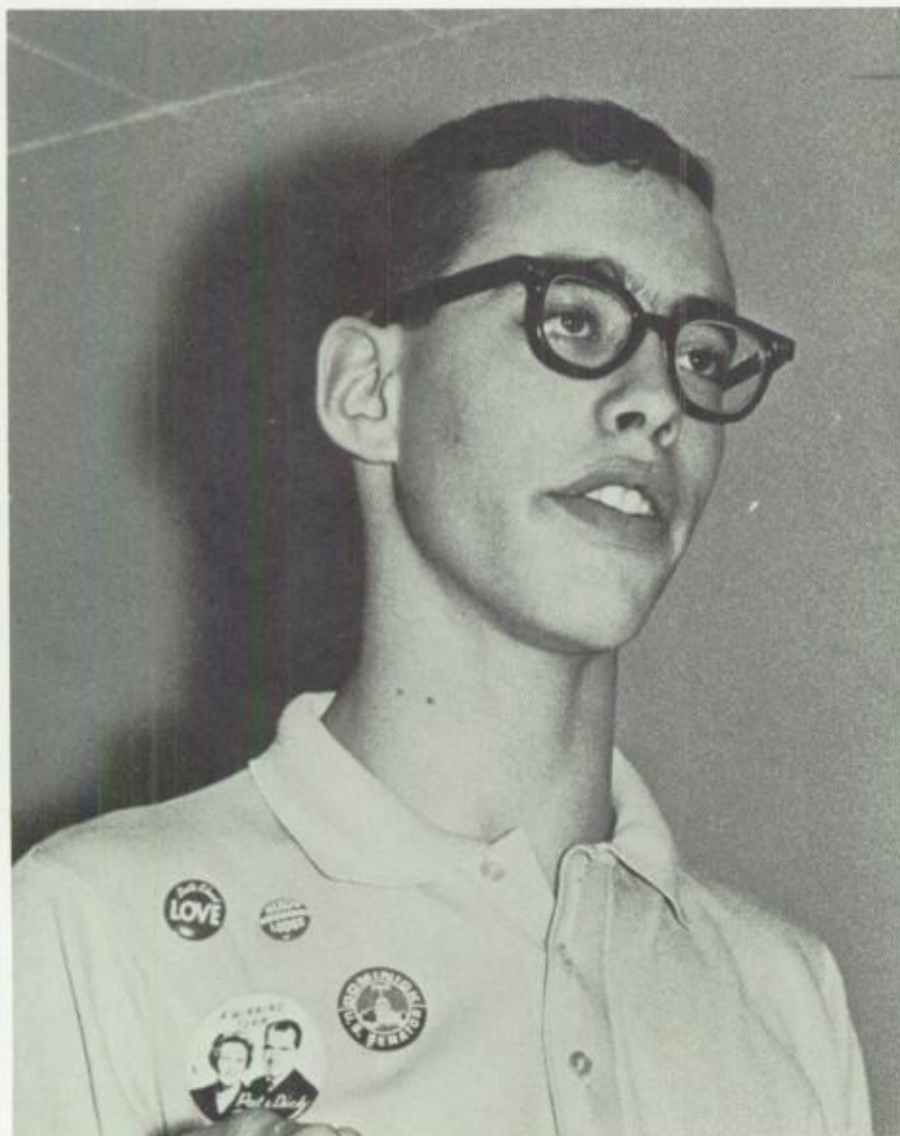

political science

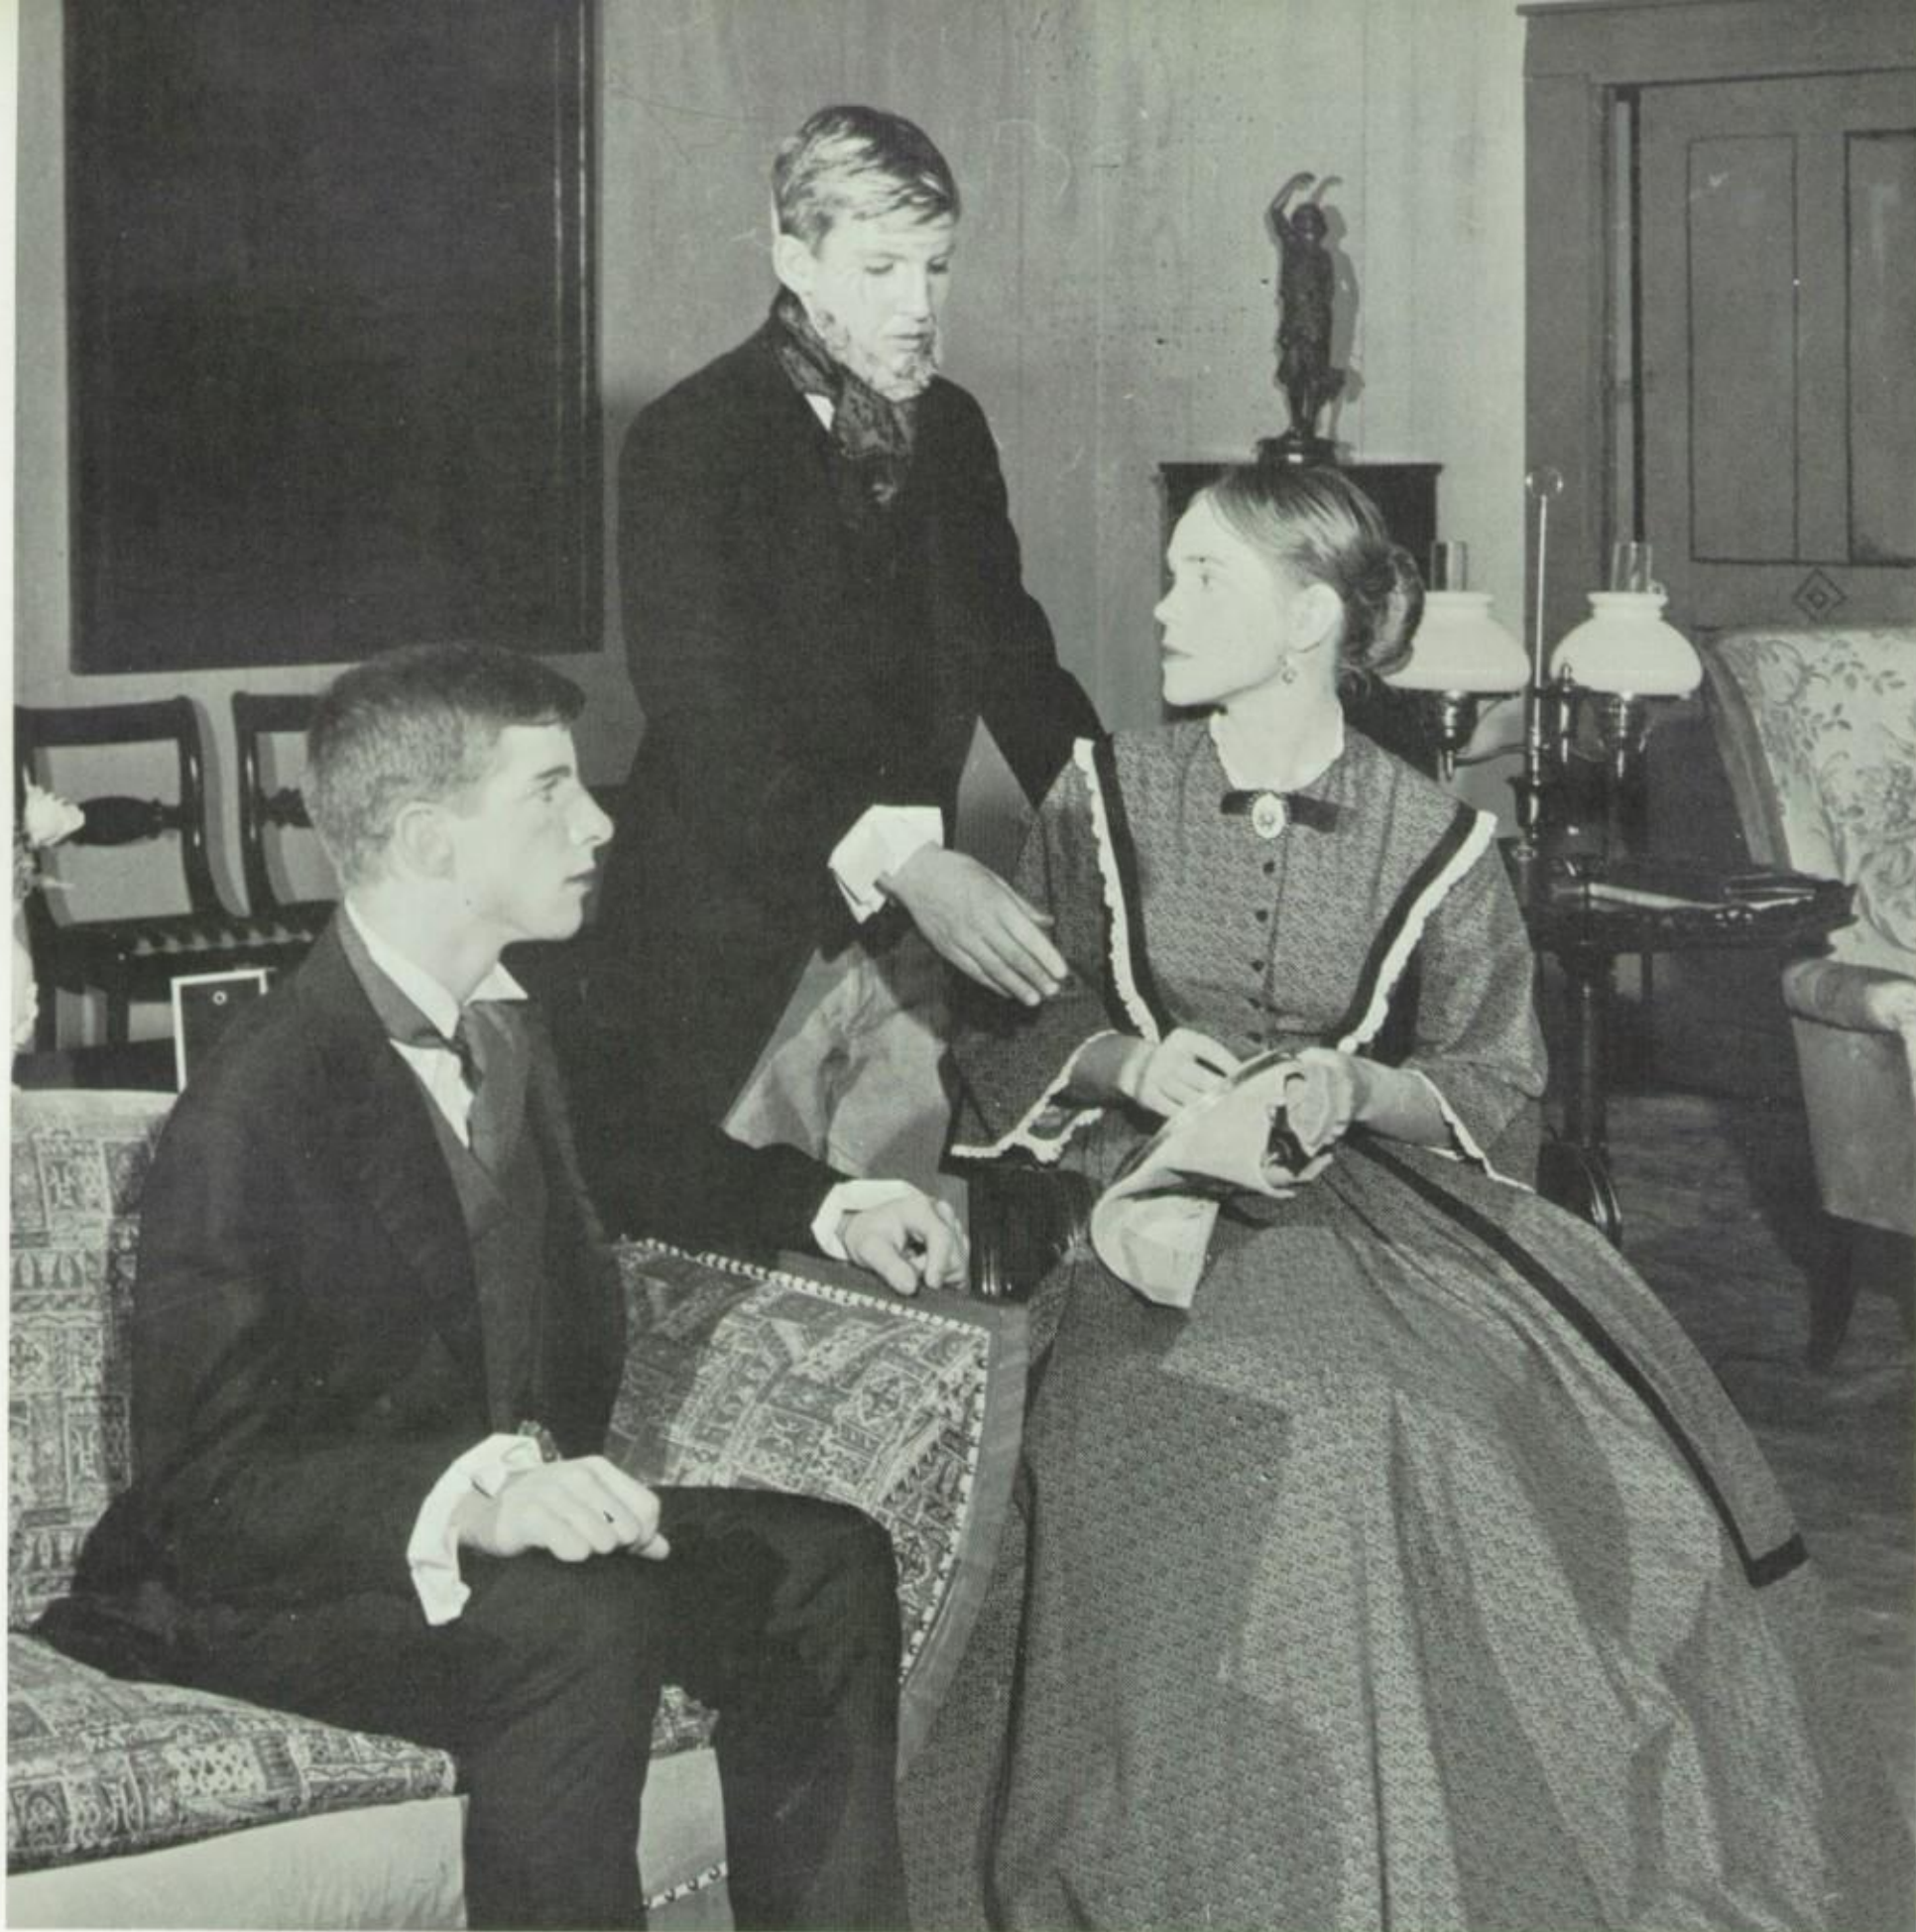

Speakers on controversial topics such as Civil Defense and probable causes of World War III aroused spirited discussions during meetings of Political Science Club. Such activities gave members insight into the importance of political parties in American Government.

Although the formal meeting is over, a lively discussion continues.

thespians

Dramatic ability and long hours of rehearsal were combined in the production of "The Heiress," one of the activities of Washington's troupe of the National Thespian Society. In order to qualify for the troupe, members must accumulate a nationally determined number of points by performing in plays and serving on production crews.

In a scene from "Fireman, Save My Child," Barry Goldstein proposes to Paula Venette.

patriot players

Play participation and production afforded Drama Club members with a deeper understanding of the live theater. Their work also helped to develop interest and appreciation of drama among the student body and the community.

Joan McCullough portrays a Spanish peasant in "Sunday Costs Five Pesos."

Stevie Cook, taking the traditional role of "Grandma" argues with villain, Larry Goldberg.

modern dance

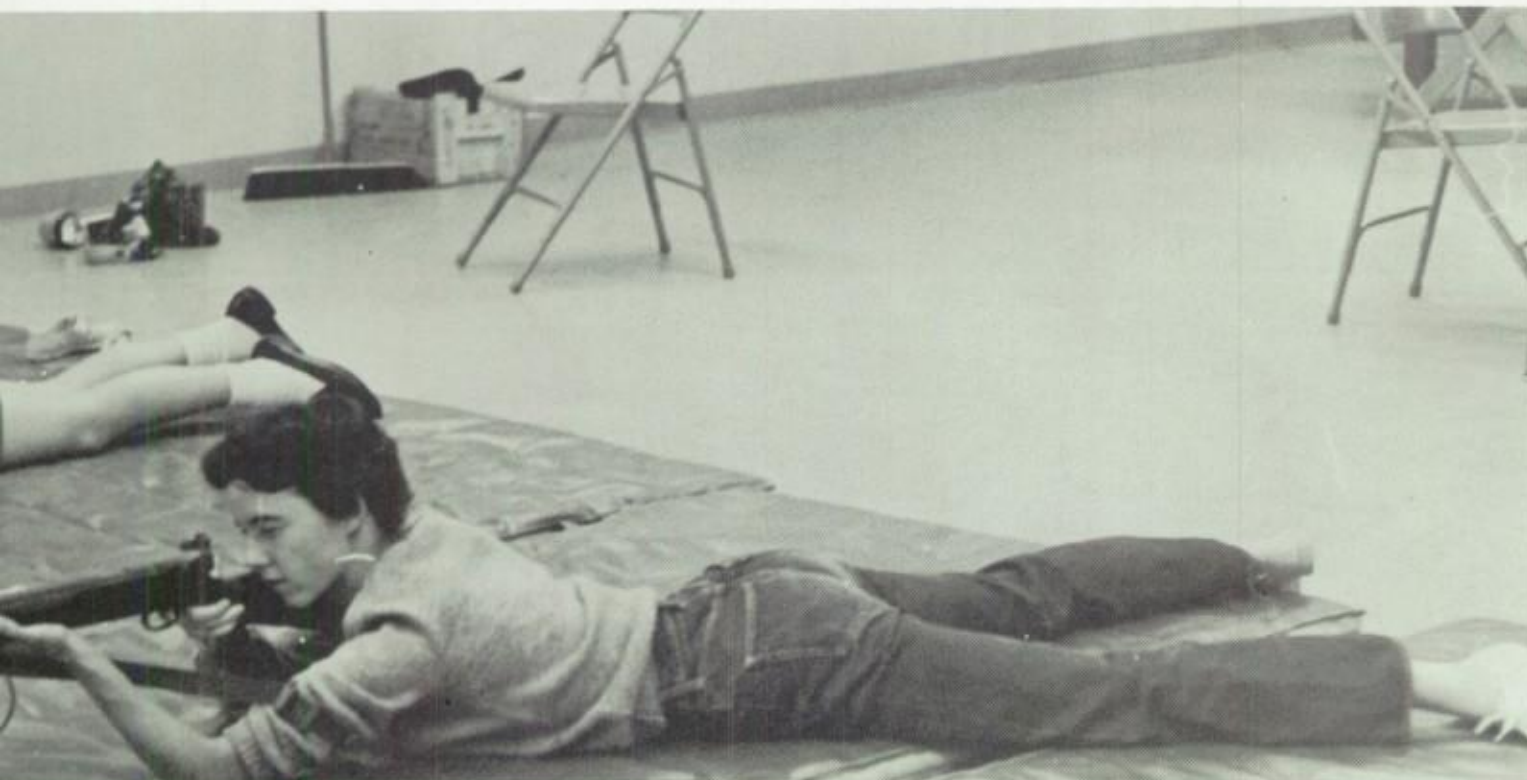

Grace, poise, and dancing ability were requirements for joining Modern Dance Club. Those who qualified met weekly to practice and compare dance methods.

Dancers practice at the exercise bar.

Miss Bonnie Shultz, club sponsor, leads members in a rhythmical pattern.

In prone position Mary Williams takes aim and awaits the signal to fire.

girls' rifle

Washington's sharpshooters utilized the rifle range to practice their shooting and learn rifle safety. The club also formed a Girls' Rifle Team which was successful in many meets with other Denver high schools.

Pat Brady positions her rifle as she receives instructions from Colonel Zalesky.

Kathy Bowers' report of the State Conference amuses President Anita Newman.

international relations

Speeches and debates concerning world affairs helped members of the International Relations Club grow in their understanding of foreign cultures. The club sent delegates to the World Affairs Conference at the University of Colorado and climaxed the year with a banquet.

Mrs. Clay, the British Consulate explains the mechanisms of the English government.

Mrs. Vinyard introduces the foreign student speakers at the I-R Club Christmas Tea.

le cercle français

The course of study for Le Cercle Français revolved around the elements of French society and government. Through correspondence with Denver's sister city, Brest, the students became more familiar with life in France. Another view of the country was obtained in a speech given by a French ambassador.

Continental table manners are practiced before the French Club banquet.

Spanish Club representative, Pat Nelsen visits with French Club members.

Mrs. F. A. Newman explains the social customs and characteristics of France.

Mr. Syd Rhea, a social worker in the Denver Public Schools, presents the opportunities available in his field.

For students interested in pursuing teaching careers, Future Teachers of America provided guidance and incentive through informative programming. In addition, members participated in an essay contest for which a scholarship was granted and planned the Teacher Appreciation Day Assembly.

Spirited Washington students reflect excitement for the coming East High football match.

Carole, really been
 It has an experience I wouldn't know. Everyday I expect in lunch St gave me something always forward so. May you have to have the best life
 off. Always!

Carol,
It's been great fun knowing you in choir. You're a sweet girl. Stay as sweet as you are and you will succeed for in life. May God be with you. May everything come your way. Much happiness to you always and next year.
Be good - hope to see you this summer
glenn

Carole,

It's been a real delight to work with you this past year in Speech and English. I wish you the best of happiness and success always. I'll never forget you. Be good always and write.

Carole - have had so much fun this year. Shipping to 20's parties, going to 20's parties, I don't forget the fun we've had. I hope we'll ship forever. Best of luck always Love Ellen D.

Miss John Hunt

Carole, we really enjoyed knowing you all these years. I hope we can remain friends for years to come. Keep your sweet personality and charming smile always. Love ya, Barbara Klein

Carole, we're had one of the most wonderful experiences any girl could have. We've been friends since we were in the future, and we'll always be better friends. I hope that in the future, we'll be able to share wonderful experiences together. Best of luck always. Love ya, Barbara Klein

DEAR CAROLE,

IT'S REALLY BEEN FUN
THIS YEAR IN FRENCH AND I FEEL THAT WE REALLY GOTTEN TO KNOW YOU THIS
